Description: For success in school and life, students need more than proficiency in academic subjects and good scores on tests; those goals should form the floor, not the ceiling, of their education. To truly thrive, students need to develop attributes that aren't typically measured on standardized tests. In this lively, engaging book by veteran school leader Thomas...

Review: The first part of this new Thomas Hoerr book, The Formative Five, is a carefully reasoned argument as to why teaching students how to conduct themselves, the forgotten part of the 1983 report, A Nation at Risk, is a required ingredient in preparing our students for life. He states quite bluntly the truism, that in life who you are is more important...
